Scene 1

THE NEIGHBORLY BANTER

NARRATOR: To fill our homes with life,

- Exterior. Spring. Back yard of a house.

- Imagine a typical Bulgarian neighborhood: a 40-something man casually chats over the fence with his neighbors. It's a scene of three generations, united by their effort in planting a tree. Their conversation is easy, filled with the kind of banter that's common among old friends. The arrival of a six-pack of Kamenitza, brought by the youngest man's wife, turns this everyday moment into a celebration of their shared labor.

The wife :"Come, enjoy the fruit of your labor! You, too!"
