

Storyboard Overview

Scene 1: In the Garage - A woman is intently repairing a motorbike in her garage, showcasing her skill and focus.

VO: 'Hey you! The one who talks to engines!'

Scene 2: The Skill Demonstration - She selects a tool and uses it to adjust something inside the motorbike, successfully revving the engine.

VO: 'You will do the best you can, when you do it for your country.'

Scene 3: The Transformation - As she closes the lid of the motorbike, the scene cuts to her in an army uniform, completing a similar action on a military vehicle. She dusts off her hands in a gesture expressing a job well done.

A close-up, slightly blurred photograph of a person's arm and hand working on a mechanical component, likely an engine. The person has a large, dark tattoo on their upper arm. The background is out of focus, showing what appears to be a workshop or garage setting with metal structures.

Turning Point

The transformation from the motorbike garage to the military vehicle setting underscores a significant transition. This moment highlights how her mechanical skills are not only useful but essential in a military context, symbolizing her personal growth and the elevation of her skills to serve national interests. This scene emphasizes the campaign's message that the BAF values and needs diverse talents, encouraging viewers with technical skills to consider how they can contribute to a larger cause.
