

A cinematic photograph of two young men sitting on a couch in a dimly lit living room, watching a football match on a large television. Both men have their mouths wide open in a shout, holding black cans. The man on the left wears a dark blue and red t-shirt, while the man on the right wears a white t-shirt with a crest. The background shows a cozy living room with framed pictures on the wall and warm ambient lighting. The television screen displays a football player in a green and white kit running on a field.

NARRATIVE - SCENE 1

- Our tale begins in a cozy living room. Two friends, engrossed in a football match, feel the adrenaline rush.
- In a moment of excitement, they decide to place a bet, sealing their pact with a handshake.

NARRATIVE - SCENE 2

- As the bet is made, a ripple effect begins. Fans in the stadium, sensing the thrill, turn their attention from the match to the two friends.
- Whispers spread, and soon, the entire stadium is abuzz with the news of the bet.

